THE MECHANICS' FAIR.

The Exhibit of Grains, Grasses, Fruit and Vegetables

Baker County's Fine Mineral Exhibit—The Second Week Opens with a Large Attendance.

—Fair Notes.

At the pavilion last night the attendance was very large, particularly for a Monday night, over 2500 people being in the huge building. Little additions are constantly being made, and the fair can now be safely said to be a success.

The music last night was especially choice. In fact the programmes rendered by the band as far as a concert, alone have been worth the price of admission.

The music to-night will be

Marie Brandt, Mezzo Soprano (by request).

Overture—Tampa. Harold Rowe

Solo—Clarinet solo—Mr. Conway

Solo—Pianoforte—Mr. G. W. Salter

Concert duet—I Would that My Love Mended Me.

Medley—The Hamptons

Descriptive piece—A Hunting Scene.

Buckskin.

THE AGRICULTURAL EXHIBIT.

The agricultural department of the Mechanics' fair is under the charge of A. F. Merton, and a very fine display of grain, fruit, vegetables, etc., is made. An extensive George Belshaw's exhibit of grains and grasses, from Lane county, is met with. It consists of 216 samples of grass, 91 samples of grain in sheaf and 48 samples of grain threshed. Mr. Belshaw has in many prizes for his exhibits, the last one of the show. His display of grasses and cereals, made to represent rolls of music, old shoes, big yellow pumpkins, pickles, etc., and very costly and delicate little gifts. It is as soft as crayon work, and yet has more distinctness. Mr. Abel himself stands behind his show, and has a pretty card for each and all of his numerous friends.

One of the richest and prettiest exhibits at the fair this year is that made by Baum, Brundage & Co. They have a large assortment of candy and confectionery, and also a collection of signs, made to represent rolls of music, old shoes, big yellow pumpkins, pickles, etc., and very costly and delicate little gifts. It is as soft as crayon work, and yet has more distinctness. Mr. Abel himself stands behind his show, and has a pretty card for each and all of his numerous friends.

EPICAL EXHIBIT.

F. B. BRINSON.

Of the many meritorious exhibits none has necessitated more care or expense than that of Belshaw, the fuller, who has spent a great deal of valuable time to make it a worthy display.

The display of grain, fruit, vegetables, etc., and great skill has been exercised in the arrangement. It is safe to conclude that Belshaw's display at the fair is pretty well up to the mark.
